DETAILED ACTION

This application is a 371 (national stage application) of PCT/GB04/04653

Claims 1-32 are pending

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-25, drawn to a method to immobilize a carbohydrate molecule.

Group II, claim(s) 26, drawn to a biosensor.

Group III, claim(s) 27, drawn to a therapeutic vehicle.

Group IV, claim(s) 28, drawn to a sample collection device.

Group V, claim(s) 29, drawn to an affinity purification matrix.

Group VI, claim(s) 30, drawn to a microarray.

Group VII, claim(s) 31-32, drawn to a surface obtainable by plasma polymerization.

As set forth in Rule 13.1 of the Patent Cooperation Treaty (PCT), "the international application shall relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept." Moreover, as stated in PCT Rule 13.2, "where a group of inventions is claimed in one and the same international application, the requirement of unity of invention referred to in Rule 13.1 shall be fulfilled only when there is a technical relationship among those inventions involving one or more of the same or corresponding special technical features." Furthermore, Rule 13.2 defines "special technical features" as "those technical features that define a contribution which each of the claimed inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art."

The inventions listed as Groups I and (II-VII) do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons:

The special technical feature of Group I is a method to immobilize at least one type of carbohydrate molecule is anticipated by the prior art. As disclosed in Williams [(EP 0124200 (A3), Williams, J.; Dunn, T.; O'Connell, P. and Montgomery, D.) this reference teaches a method for attaching heparin, a carbohydrate in its native form, to a polymeric substrate by subjecting the substrate to a plasma treatment prior to attaching heparin (claim 1). The plasma polymer may be generated from a monomeric source selected from volatile amines (N-vinylpyrrolidine) or alcohols (allyl alcohol) for example (claim 2). Similarly, the special technical feature of Group I is anticipated by Marchant (WO/1994/010938) Marchant also teaches a method for modifying the surface of a substrate by first depositing a film of a plasma polymerized N-vinylpyrrolidine or allyl alcohol on the surface of the substrate followed by attachment of heparin (See abstract and claims 1-6). Thus the elements of the subject matter relating to claims 1-25 of the instant application are not novel over the prior art.

As such, Group I does not share a special technical feature with the instant claims of Groups II-VII. Therefore, the claims are not so linked within the meaning of PCT Rule 13.2 so as to form a single inventive concept, and unity between Groups I and II-VII is broken.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
